

Personal Data Protection Act

Promulgated State Gazette No. 1/4.01.2002, effective 1.01.2002, supplemented, SG No. 70/10.08.2004, effective 1.01.2005, SG No. 93/19.10.2004, No. 43/20.05.2005, effective 1.09.2005, amended and supplemented, SG No. 103/23.12.2005, amended, SG No. 30/11.04.2006, effective 12.07.2006

Chapter One

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) This Act shall regulate the protection of rights of individuals with regard to the processing of their personal data.

(2) The purpose of this Act is to guarantee the inviolability of personality and privacy by ensuring protection of individuals in case of unauthorised processing of personal data relating to them, in the process of free movement of data.

(3) This Act shall apply to the processing of personal data which are, or are designed to become, part of a register where such processing is performed by a personal data administrator:

1. having an establishment on the territory of the Republic of Bulgaria;

2. not having an establishment on the territory of the Republic of Bulgaria but bound to apply this Act by virtue of international public law;

3. (in force as of the effective date of the Treaty of Accession of the Republic of Bulgaria to the European Union) not having an establishment on the territory of an European Union Member State, nor in another member country of the European Economic Area but, for the purposes of such processing, making use of means located on the territory of the Republic of Bulgaria, unless such means are being used exclusively for transit purposes; in such a case the administrator must designate a representative having an establishment on the territory of the Republic of Bulgaria, this, however, shall not render it harmless.

(4) Processing of personal data for defence, national security and public order purposes, and for the purposes of criminal justice shall be governed by special laws.

(5) The terms and procedure for processing uniform civil registry personal identification numbers and other identification numbers of general application shall be governed by special laws.

(6) This Act shall not apply to the processing of personal data by individuals for their personal or household activity.

Article 2

(Supplemented, SG No. 70/10.08.2004, amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) "Personal data" shall refer to any information relating to an individual who is identified or identifiable, directly or indirectly, by reference to an identification number or to one or more specific features relating to his or her physical, physiological, genetic, mental, psychological, economic, cultural or social identity.

(2) Personal data must be:

1. processed in legal compliance and in a bona fide manner;
2. captured for specific, precisely defined and legal purposes and not be submitted to additional processing in a manner incompatible with such purposes; additional processing of personal data for historical, statistical or research purposes shall be allowable provided the administrator has ensured proper protection guaranteeing that such data are not being processed for any other purposes;
3. proportional to the purposes for which they are being processed;
4. accurate, and updated as needed;
5. destroyed or adjusted when found to be imprecise or disproportional to the purposes for which they are being processed;
6. maintained in a form that enables identification of the respective individuals for a period not to exceed the time necessary for the purposes for which such data are being processed; personal data which are to be retained for a longer period of time for historical, statistical or research purposes shall be stored in a format precluding the identification of individuals.

Article 3

(1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) Personal data administrator, hereinafter referred to as "administrator", shall refer to any natural or legal person, or a central or local government authority which processes personal data, and the purposes and means of processing shall be determined by law.

(2) (New, SG No. 103/2005) "An administrator" shall also refer to any natural or legal person, or a central or local government authority which determines by itself the type of personal data processed, and the purposes and means of processing

(3) (Repealed, renumbered from Paragraph (2), SG No. 103/2005) The personal data administrator shall process personal data on its own or through assignment to a data processor.

(4) (New, SG No. 103/2005) The administrator shall ensure compliance with the requirements laid out in Article 2 paragraph (2).

Article 4

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) Personal data may be processed only provided at least one of the following conditions is met:

1. processing is necessary in order to comply with an obligation imposed on the personal data administrator by a piece of legislation;
2. the individual to whom such data relate has given his or her explicit consent;
3. processing is necessary for the execution and performance of a contract to which the individual to whom such data relate is party;
4. processing is necessary in order to protect the life and health of the individual to whom such data relate;
5. processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest;
6. processing is necessary for the exercise of an official authority vested by law in the administrator or in a third party to whom the data are disclosed;
7. processing is necessary for the realisation of the legitimate interests of the personal data administrator or a third party to whom the data are disclosed, except where such interests are overridden by the interests of the individual to whom such data relate.

(2) Personal data processing shall be allowable also in cases when performed exclusively for the purposes of journalism, literary or artistic expression to the extent to which such processing does not violate the right to privacy of the person to whom the data relate. In such cases, the provisions of Chapter Three shall not apply.

Article 5

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) It shall be forbidden to process personal data which:

1. reveal racial or ethnic origin;
2. reveal political, religious or philosophical convictions, membership in political parties or organisations, associations having religious, philosophical, political or trade-union goals;
3. refer to health, sex life or human genome.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply where:

1. processing is necessary for the purposes of carrying out specific rights and obligations of the administrator in the field of labour law;
2. the individual to whom such data relate has given his or her consent to the processing of such data, except where otherwise provided by a special law;
3. processing is necessary to protect the life and health of the individual to whom such data relate, or of another person, and the physical condition of such individual render him incapable of giving his or her consent, or there are legal impediments to doing so;
4. processing is carried out by a non-profit organisation, including such with a political, philosophical, religious or trade-union goal, in the course of its legitimate activities and with appropriate protection, on condition that:

(a) the processing relates exclusively to the members of such organisation or to persons who have regular contact with it in connection with its goals;

(b) the data are not disclosed to a third party without the consent of the individual to whom such data relates;

5. the processing relates to data which have been made public by the individual to whom such data relate, or it is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;

6. processing of the data is required for the purposes of preventive medicine, medical diagnostics, the provision or management of health-care services provided that such data are processed by a medical professional who is bound by law to professional secrecy, or by another person under a similar obligation of secrecy;

7. processing is performed exclusively for the purposes of journalism, literary or artistic expression to the extent to which it does not violate the right to privacy of the person to whom such data relate.

(2) Before making the entry referred to in paragraph (1), The Commission shall be free to make a preliminary examination and issue mandatory prescriptions as to the conditions for personal data processing and register keeping by the personal data administrator.

Chapter Three

OBLIGATIONS OF PERSONAL DATA ADMINISTRATORS

(Heading amended, SG No. 103/2005)

Article 17

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) The personal data administrator must file a application for registration when at least one of the following conditions are met:

1. it processes personal data that reveal racial or ethnic origin, political, religious or philosophical convictions, membership in political parties or organisations, associations having religious, philosophical, political or trade-union goals, and personal data that refer to health, sex life or human genome;
2. it processes personal data in the exercise of an official authority vested by law;
3. it maintains a register containing data on not less than 100 individuals;
4. it has been issued a binding prescription for registration by the Commission.

(2) An administrator shall be free to register at its own initiative without being obliged to do so.

Article 18

(Supplemented, SG No. 93/2004, amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) Any personal data administrator or its representative shall file a registration application as referred to in Article 17 and documents in a set format approved by the Commission before they begin to process personal data.

(2) The application shall contain:

1. the data identifying the personal data administrator and its representative, if any;
2. the purposes of personal data processing;
3. the categories of individuals whose data are processed, and the categories of personal data relating to them;
4. the recipients or categories of recipients to whom the personal data may be disclosed;
5. proposed provision of data in other countries;
6. the general description of measures undertaken in accordance with Article 23 enabling a preliminary assessment of their appropriateness.

(3) The administrator shall notify the Commission of any change in the data referred to in paragraph (2) prior to making such change. In cases where such change is provided for in a law, notification must be made within 7 days following the effective date of such law.

(4) In cases where the administrator is not registered in the register referred to in Article 10, paragraph

(1), subparagraph (2), it must provide the data referred to in paragraph (2) to every person upon request.

Article 19

(Supplemented, SG No. 93/2004, amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) Where personal data are collected from the individual to whom such data relate, the administrator or its representative must provide him with:

1. the data which identify the administrator and its representative;
2. the purposes for which the data are being processed;
3. the recipients or categories of recipients to whom the personal data may be disclosed;
4. the data concerning the obligatory or voluntary nature of data provision and the consequences of a failure to provide them;
5. information about the right of access to and the right to rectify the data collected.

(2) The data referred to in paragraph (1) shall not be provided when the individual to whom they relate already has such data, or if a law provides for an express prohibition on providing them.

Article 20

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) Where personal data have not been collected from the individual to whom they relate, the administrator or its representative must provide him with:

1. the data which identify the administrator and its representative;
2. the purposes for which the data are being processed;
3. the categories of personal data relating to the respective individual;
4. the recipients or categories of recipients to whom the personal data may be disclosed;
5. information about the right of access to and the right to rectify the data collected.

(2) The data referred to in paragraph (1) shall be provided to the individual to whom they relate at the time they are recorded in the respective register or, if data are to be disclosed to a third party, not later than at the time of their first disclosure.

(3) Paragraph (1) shall not apply where:

1. processing is done for statistical purposes or for the purposes of historical or scientific research and the provision of the data referred to in paragraph (1) is impossible or would involve a disproportionate effort;

2. recording or disclosure of data is explicitly laid down by law;

3. the individual to whom such data relate already has the information referred to in paragraph (1);

4. this is explicitly prohibited by law.

Article 21

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) Any other information beyond that referred to in Article 19, paragraph (1) and Article 20, paragraph

(1) relating to data processing shall be provided upon an assessment of the need to provide it, in order to ensure fair processing of data in regard to the individual to whom they relate.

(2) The assessment referred to in paragraph (1) shall be made by the administrator on a case by case basis.

Article 22

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) The personal data administrator must provide access for the persons referred to in Article 12, paragraph (1) to registers maintained by it and must not impede control of the process of personal data processing.

(2) The personal data administrator must provide the information requested by the persons referred to in Article 12, paragraph (1) orally or in writing, or on other information carriers.

(3) Where such information contains data constituting classified information, the access procedure provided for in the Classified Information Protection Act shall apply.

(4) All persons engaged in personal data processing must cooperate with the Commission in the exercise of its powers.

Chapter Four

PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION

Article 23

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) The personal data administrator must implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect the data against accidental or unlawful destruction, or against accidental loss, unauthorised access, alteration or dissemination, and against other unlawful forms of processing.

(2) The administrator shall implement special protection measures where processing involves the transmission of data over an electronic network.

(3) Measures referred to in paragraph (1) and paragraph (2) shall take into account state-of-the-art technology and ensure a level of security corresponding to the risks involved in processing, and the nature of the data to be protected.

(4) The measures referred to in paragraph (1) and paragraph (2) shall be determined in an instruction issued by the personal data administrator.

(5) The Commission shall specify the minimum level of technical and organisational measures, as well as the admissible type of protection in a regulation. Such regulation shall be published in the State Gazette.

Article 24

- (1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) Administrators may process data on their own or through assignment to data processors. When this is needed for organisational reasons, the processing may be assigned to more than one data processor with a view to, inter alia, to delimitate their specific tasks.
- (2) Where the data processing is not performed by the administrator, the latter shall designate the data processor and provide sufficient data protection guarantees.
- (3) (Repealed, SG No. 103/2005) .
- (4) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The relationship between the administrator and the personal data processor must be governed by a piece of legislation, a written contract or another act of the administrator defining the scope of duties assigned by the administrator to the data processor.
- (5) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The administrator shall be jointly and severally liable for any damages caused to any third party resulting from any action or failure to act on behalf of the data processor.
- (6) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The personal data processor or any person acting under the guidance of the administrator or of the processor who has access to personal data may process them only on instructions from the administrator, unless otherwise provided for by law.

Article 25

- (1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) Upon the achievement of the purpose of personal data processing, the personal data administrator must:
1. either destroy the data, or
 2. having given prior notification to the Commission, transfer them to another administrator provided that such transfer is provided for in a law and the purposes of processing are identical.
- (2) (Supplemented, SG No. 93/2004, amended, SG No. 103/2005) Upon the achievement of the intended purposes of personal data processing, the personal data administrator shall store data only in the cases laid down by law.
- (3) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) In cases where, having achieved the purpose of personal data processing, the administrator wishes to store the personal data processed as anonymous data for historical, statistical or research purposes, it must inform the Commission thereof.
- (4) The Commission for Personal Data Protection may prohibit the storage of data for the purposes under Paragraph 3 if the administrator has failed to provide sufficient protection of the anonymous storage of the data processed.

(5) The decision of the Commission under Paragraph 4 shall be subject to appeal before the Supreme Administrative Court. Where the Supreme Administrative Court fails to grant an appeal against the decision of the Commission, the personal data administrator shall destroy the data.

Chapter Five

RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS

(Heading amended, SG No. 103/2005)

Article 26

(1) Any individual shall be entitled to access to personal data related to him or her.

(2) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) In the cases when the right of access granted to an individual may lead to disclosure of personal data of third parties as well, administrators shall provide the relevant individual with access only to that part of the data that relates to himself or herself.

Article 27

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

The exercise of the right of access to personal data may not prejudice the rights of any other individual or be aimed against national security and public order.

Article 28

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) When exercising his or her right of access, an individual shall be entitled to request, at any time, from the personal data administrator:

1. a confirmation as to whether or not data relating to him are being processed, information as to the purposes of such processing, the categories of data concerned, and the recipients or categories of recipients to whom the data are disclosed;

2. communication to him, in an intelligible form, containing his or her personal data undergoing processing, and any available information as to their source;

3. information concerning the logic involved in any automatic processing of data concerning him, at least in case of automated decisions referred to in Article 34b.

(2) The individual may exercise his or her right of obtaining the information referred to in paragraph

(1) free of charge once every twelve months.

(3) In case the individual dies, his or her rights referred to in paragraph (1) and paragraph (2) shall be exercised by his or her heirs.

Article 28a

(New, SG No. 103/2005)

An individual shall be entitled to require, at any time, from the personal data administrator:

1. to remove, rectify or block his or her personal data the processing of which does not comply with the provisions of this Act;

2. notify any third parties to whom his or her personal data have been disclosed of any removal, rectification, or blocking carried out in compliance with paragraph (1), unless this is impossible or involves a disproportionate effort.

Article 29

(1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The right of access referred to in Article 26 and the rights referred to in Article 28a shall be exercised by submitting an application in writing to the personal data administrator.

(2) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The application may also be submitted in electronic form under the procedure laid down in the Electronic Document and Electronic Signature Act .

(3) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The application referred to in paragraph (1) shall be filed personally by the individual to whom such data relate or by his or her representative expressly authorised with a power of attorney certified by a notary public.

(4) (Repealed, SG No. 103/2005) .

Article 30

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) The application referred to in Article 29 shall contain:

1. the name, address and other data necessary for identifying the respective individual;
2. statement of the request;
3. preferred form of provision of the information referred to in Article 28, paragraph (1);
4. signature, date of submission of the application and mailing address.

(2) In cases where the application is submitted by a duly authorised person, the application shall enclose the power of attorney certified by a notary public.

(3) The personal data administrator shall keep a register of the applications referred to in Article 29.

Article 31

(1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The information referred to in Article 28, paragraph (1) may be provided as a statement orally or in writing, or in the form of a review of the data by the individual concerned or by his or her duly authorised representative.

(2) Individuals may request copies of the personal data processed on a preferred carrier or electronically, unless this is prohibited by law.

(3) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The personal data administrator must take into consideration the preferences stated by the applicant as to the form of provision of the information referred to in Article 28, paragraph (1).

Article 32

(Amended, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) In the cases provided for in Article 28, paragraph (1), the personal data administrator or a person explicitly authorised by it shall consider the application referred to in Article 29 and shall respond within 14 days from the submission thereof.

(2) The limit referred to in paragraph (1) may be reasonably extended by the administrator up to 30 days in the cases provided for in Article 28, paragraph (1), items (1) and (2), where the collection of all requested data objectively requires a longer period and this would place a serious burden on the activities of the administrator.

(3) Within 14 days, the administrator shall decide whether to provide full or partial information as laid down in Article 28, paragraph (1) to the applicant, or to deny the provision thereof stating the reasons for such denial.

(4) In the cases referred to in Article 28a, paragraph (1), the administrator shall decide and take the relevant action within 14 days from the submission of the application referred to in Article 29, or shall deny to take action stating the reasons for such denial.

(5) In the cases referred to in Article 28a, paragraph (2), the personal data administrator shall decide within 14 days and shall forthwith notify the third parties concerned or shall deny to make such notification, stating reasons.

Article 33

(1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The personal data administrator shall notify the applicant in writing of its decision or denial under Article 32, paragraphs (3) to (5) within the relevant time limit.

(2) The notice under Paragraph 1 shall be delivered personally against signature or by registered mail.

(3) (New, SG No. 103/2005) The absence of notification as referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to constitute a denial.

Article 34

(1) (Amended, SG No. 103/2005) The administrator shall deny access to personal data where such data do not exist or the provision thereof is prohibited by law.

(2) (Repealed, SG No. 103/2005) .

(3) (New, SG No. 93/2004, amended, SG No. 103/2005) The administrator shall deny full or partial access to data to the individual to whom such data relate where such access would jeopardise defence or national security, or the protection of classified information. There is no need to state other reasons than the legal grounds justifying such denial.

Article 34a

(New, SG No. 103/2005)

(1) The individual to whom such data relate shall be entitled:

1. to object to the administrator to the processing of his or her personal data on the basis of legitimate grounds; where such objection is justified, the personal data of the relevant individual may no longer be processed;
2. to object to the processing of his or her personal data for the purposes of direct marketing;
3. to be informed before his or her personal data are disclosed for the first time to third parties or used on their behalf for the purposes set out in subparagraph (2), and to be given the opportunity to object to such disclosure or use.
